18	1. My wife, two daughters, and one son are totally against spending ANY more dollars on education until the education mess has seriously been attempted to be fixed. That requires nearly a complete change in the whole educational system, starting with the facists Teacher's Union. We are in the top States in educational spending, and as far as I can tell, spending more money without requiring mandatory Forensic Audits and mandatory compliance, is insane. I taught in the public and private schools for nearly ten years. The problem is not funding, it is, among other things, a lack of gifted teachers being able to teach with the gift of teaching without the onerous "systems" people who want to homogenize our learning, as well as the mind-boggling ordinances and "political and social correctness" levied upon the syste, and instituted within the system. Also today, teachers have relatively little control because the "system" has effectly neutered them, favoring instead, to place nearly all power and control in the hands of educational bureaucracy. Where today, is common sense. Why are we not effectly teaching common logic, including cause and effect, actions and unintended consequences as a part of applying what we learn?	Feb 9, 2011 6:41 PM
